

Sir John Simon Relates Facts Behind the French Alliance Announcement

Foreign Secretary Tells House of Commons No New Obligations Were Undertaken in Recent Parley With Louis Barthou.

NO SELECT ALLIANCE

Visit Was for Sole Purpose of Outlining Reason for Mutual Assistance Pact for Peace.

London, July 13 (P).—Great Britain has reinforced the pact of Locarno but has not entered any "select alliance" with any country, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, declared today before the house of commons.

In his anxiously-awaited statement of position on continental affairs, Sir John said the recent Anglo-French conversations had resulted in a greater feeling of peace and security in Europe and will greatly improve conditions on the continent if powers affected fully enter the proposed eastern regional agreement.

He added that Premier Mussolini of Italy agrees with Britain as to the necessity of an eastern pact—"eastern locarno" as it has been called—and fully approves of it.

Sir John supported the statement of Louis Barthou, the French foreign minister, when the latter left London, that Britain and France were cooperating in trying to affect permanent peace in Europe.

At the same time the foreign secretary denied French inferences that Barthou "got more than he expected," meaning some sort of alliance.

No New Obligations

"We are undertaking no new obligations whatever—there is no select alliance with any power," he said.

In the first government statement since the departure of Barthou, Sir John revealed that Britain is urging Germany to enter an eastern pact and return to the League of Nations.

He said Britain deems Russia's inclusion in the league a paramount necessity for the peace of Europe.

Sir John emphasized that Britain regards an eastern pact as a peace move, not a war move aimed at any one country. He said he and Barthou were fully agreed there was no intent or thought of "building up one group against another," making it clear that the pact was aimed to aid Germany and not aimed at her.

Barthou's Chief Mission.

The chief mission of Barthou, the foreign secretary said, was to outline reasons for the necessity of a pact of mutual assistance embracing the Baltic states, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Germany.

Sir John especially urged that Germany and Poland fully participate in the pact. He said the British government, as a friendly, non-participating power, was assisting in all affected countries the necessity of entering a security agreement.

The attitude of Italy toward the pact—in the capacity of a signatory to the Locarno treaty—was similar to that of Britain, he said. Neither Italy nor Britain was undertaking new obligations but both fully sympathized with support of an eastern reciprocity program.

Italy agrees with Britain, he said, that such a pact "offers fresh possibilities in the field of limitation and reduction of armaments and in implicit recognition of equality rights."

Simon said the British government is urging various powers in the eastern pact area to enter security arrangements proposed by France, particularly urging Germany and Poland to enter.

Mussolini Approves.

He also revealed that Premier Mussolini approves the idea of an eastern security pact, although Italy's participation is not necessary.

The government's attitude toward disarmament was criticized in the house by Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal leader, and Clement Richard Attlee, Laborite. They said the government was going ahead on big armament proposals and letting the disarmament conference collapse.

"We cannot wait until the disarmament conference collapses," said Sir John in reply, "before discussing what possible steps to take in case of necessity."

British Navy A Safeguard.

"An adequate British navy is the best safeguard to world peace. We have made tremendous efforts to bring about disarmament and we cannot indulge in what would be an illusion all along. It is prudent to make plans before it is too late."

"We are persisting in our efforts toward success at Geneva sincerely, and we hope our efforts will be crowned with success."

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES

SEIZE LOTTERY TICKETS

Thousands of lottery and sweepstakes tickets addressed to Capital District residents have been seized by federal authorities since the first of June, it was revealed Thursday.

The postal and customs men said they were acting on special instructions from Washington. The letters opened came from Canadian cities and contained tickets, receipt stubs and literature. Shipment of such material is a violation of section 858 of the Tariff Laws and the postal regulations governing use of the mails for lotteries. Postmaster Pearl A. King said.

Trouble Looms Today Over Johnson Speech On Hitler's Nazi Purge

NRA Administrator Compares Shootings to Acts of "Half-Drunk" Savages—German Embassy Might Lodge Protest at Washington.

Washington, July 13 (P).—There were indications today that the German embassy might lodge a protest against Hugh S. Johnson's denunciation of the Hitler "purge."

The NRA administrator, in a speech at Waterloo, Iowa, yesterday, compared the shootings to the acts of "half-drunk" savages and said they made him literally ill.

There was no comment immediately from the German embassy. Ambassador Hans Luther was absent and Dr. Rudolph Leithner, charge d'affaires, was silent.

The embassy has already lodged protest against anti-Nazi and anti-Hitler utterances and movements. Since Johnson is a high official of the government, observers awaited a complaint against his remarks.

After a mock trial of Nazis in New York recently, a protest was entered. The state department replied that no government officials were involved and that the government could not curtail free speech by private citizens.

Johnson's Reaction.

Omaha, Neb., July 13 (P).—General Hugh S. Johnson, "cracking down" verbally on recent executions in Germany, says he expects no rebuke from the state department and will stand by his guns.

Stopping here last night on his way to the Pacific coast in an army airplane, the militant chief of the NRA reiterated the denunciation of the German "purge" which he voiced yesterday in a speech at Waterloo, Ia.

"I was speaking as an individual, not for the state department and not for the administration," Johnson said.

"I mean everything I said; I will not take anything back, and I do not expect to be called down by the state department."

A few days ago, Johnson said in his Waterloo speech, "events in Germany occurred which shocked the world. I don't know how they may have affected you, but they made me sick—not figuratively but physically—and very sick."

Got Wrong Number, Smith Not Offender

Car Owned by Hubert Smith of High Falls Did Not Hit The Municipal Painting Machine Here Thursday.

The 1931 Chevrolet of Hubert Smith, a highly respected resident of High Falls, was not the one that hit the municipal painting machine early Thursday morning while Zeke Boss, Nate Palissi and Raymond Sess, the painters who put white traffic lines on the streets, were working in the vicinity of Broadway and Foxhall avenue.

This was learned yesterday when Sergeant Charles Phinney of the police force and Messrs. Boss and Palissi went to High Falls to check up on the car supposed to have struck the machine, the number corresponding to the license handed to the police as that of the offending car. The license given to Sergeant Phinney to check on was 7D 40-45, the one issued to Mr. Smith.

At the Smith residence Sergeant Phinney learned that the car had not been out of the garage Wednesday evening after 5 o'clock. He and the two painters were invited to examine it for dents on the fenders and paint spots which would have been left by the splash. Although thoroughly convinced by the lack of evidence that the Hubert Smith car could not have been the one that spilled the paint machine, Sergeant Phinney said Mr. Smith's record in his community as an upright citizen lent enough weight to exonerate him, stamping him as a man with honor enough to stop and report the matter if he had had the misfortune to strike the machine.

The license number of the car that struck the painting machine apparatus must have been similar to that on the auto of Mr. Smith and in taking it down the painters probably made a slight mistake, confused as they were after the crash that dumped the marker, spilling five gallons of white paint over the roadway and splashing it on them.

No City Court Today.

There was no session of city court this morning, things having been quiet with no arrests by the police last night and no adjudged cases to come before City Judge Bernard A. Callahan.

By MAX HARRELSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Albany, N. Y., July 13 (P).—Completing his latest program for the special session of the legislature, Governor Lehman today opened the way for action on the plea of the public schools for additional state aid and called on the legislature to give relief to the 500,000 holders of guaranteed certificates.

He placed squarely upon the shoulders of the law makers all responsibilities for an additional appropriation for schools. He told them, however, that they should either make an appropriation of $14,000,000 as required under the Friedsam act or amend the act to conform with the $102,000,000 appropriation made at the last session.

In his message on the mortgage question the Governor urged the legislature to do two things:

(1) Provide machinery through which private agencies may lend money to holders of guaranteed mortgage securities who find themselves in financial need.

(2) Create a public body which will cooperate with holders of guaranteed mortgage securities in rehabilitating the mortgaged properties and in restoring and increasing the value of their investment.

The governor has sent five messages to the legislature in the four days it has been in session, opening the way for legislation in county government reform, congressional and legislative reapportionment, an additional appropriation for bovine tuberculosis elimination, and the two questions presented today.

School Aid Problem

Speaking of the school aid problem, Governor Lehman said: "We cannot longer permit the continuation of a situation in which the provisions of the existing statutes call for $116,000,000 and the current appropriation provides only $102,000,000. That situation is fraught with real danger to the state and to its municipalities and school districts. No city or district can under the circumstances, know whether it can count on the full statutory allowance, or only on the amount covered by the appropriation itself. Confusion and hardship are bound to ensue."

"If you determine to limit the appropriation for state aid for public education to $102,000,000, the sum which you have already appropriated, you should have the courage and the fairness to amend the existing statutes to conform with the appropriation made."

"If on the other hand you determine to allow the full statutory amount of the $116,000,000, or any other amount greater than that already appropriated, you should appropriate such an amount and accompany your appropriation by tax measures which will make available during the current fiscal year sufficient funds to cover it."

At the last session the legislature reduced the school appropriations by $14,000,000 as recommended by Governor Lehman but refused to amend the Friedsam act as the governor suggested. He predicted at that time that confusion would result if the school law was not amended. During recent weeks many schools, particularly New York city schools, have been demanding their full quota under the law. The State Board of Regents early this week recommended that the legislature set aside the $14,000,000 due the schools under the law.

Need Action Now

Impressing upon the legislature the importance of mortgage relief legislation at this time Governor Lehman said:

"Action by you cannot, in my opinion, be delayed until the regular session of next year without forcing these thousands of people to endure conditions that could otherwise be materially improved by immediate appropriate legislation."

"It would be unconscionable to continue to neglect the plight and needs of these people and to disregard the benefits that legislation could bring them, and indirectly to everyone interested in the rehabilitation and restoration of real estate values throughout the state. I urge your honorable bodies to give immediate attention to this problem, one of transcendent consequence to the people of our state."

Governor Lehman said that Senator Lazarus Joseph, chairman of the joint legislative committee which is studying the guaranteed mortgage situation, has advised him that the committee will be in a position to present its report and recommendations for legislation within a few days.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, July 12 (P).—The position of the treasury July 11 was: Receipts $75,451,341.32; expenditures $72,979,422.25; balance, $2,471,919.07. Customs receipts for the month $6,113,731.14. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $1,945,395,555.55; expenditures $223,794,343.44 (including $75,451,341.32 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures $1,771,734.79; gold assets $7,851,422,419.14.

Hitler Will Explain And Bobby Connor Missing, Move Toward General Strike Gains Headway In Pacific Coast's Cities

Defend Purge-By-Death Searchers Fear Child Is In Hands of a Kidnapers

TWO-FOLD TASK

Must Convert an Untold Number of Skeptics at Home and Placate a World Abroad.

Berlin, July 13 (P).—Chancellor Hitler drew up a defense today of his purge-by-death of the Nazi ranks—a defense he presents to the world tonight in one of his greatest oratorical challenges.

While the "iron chancellor" sat down in seclusion to write his speech, his cohorts built up a suspense for him before the all-Nazi Reichstag.

"We fight and pray for Hitler" was emblazoned on huge banners unfurled over the doors of the theater where the Reichstag will hear the chancellor at 8 p. m. (about 3 p. m., eastern standard time).

Not since his powers of oratory elevated him to the chancellorship some 18 months ago and brought millions under the Swastika have Hitler and Nazism faced such a test.

A two-fold task confronted Hitler—to convert an untold number of skeptics at home and to placate a world abroad, embittered by Nazism's financial and economic policies and mistrustful of its military aims.

Defense Unknown.

What the chancellor would say beyond a defense of the bloody June 30 "housecleaning," none knew.

Some believed that he would come forward bluntly with an offer of international cooperation, designed to break the stranglehold of isolation that has been the fruit of the Nazi foreign policy.

What was regarded as an admission that "der fuhrer" faces a critical public tonight came from his own newspaper, the Volkische Beobachter, which exhorted Germany to "discipline."

The newspaper complained: "It is astonishing with what a lack of understanding a certain part of our public misses the true significance of the happenings in our time."

The stage was set, not only before the Reichstag but throughout the nation, so that all might hear Hitler's words of self-justification.

Want All To Hear

Hundreds of loud speakers were set up in public squares. Radio sets were offered free of cost to persons without them. Cafes, movies, theatres and other entertainments will be interrupted or delayed for the chancellor's speech.

While the nation waited for Hitler, assurance was given that the Stahlhelm, or steel helmet war veterans organization, rival of the storm troops, would not be abolished.

Franz Seldte, head of the Stahlhelm, which is now on vacation, said Hitler had told him this personally.

The development was taken as another indication that Hitler is modifying his program. The Stahlhelm is considered strongly conservative, with non-militaristic leanings, and has opposed radical Nazi elements.

Twins Are Born Today To the Bing Crosby

Hollywood, Calif., July 13 (P).—Bing Crosby and his wife, the former Dixie Lee, screen actress, today became the parents of twin boys.

While Bing, singer, actor and pretty fair amateur golfer, was passing out the cigars, he was told that he and his wife had established some sort of "record" for screen couples. No other couple in the movies has twins.

The babies were placed in an incubator at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital immediately after birth and were not weighed.

Dr. Joseph Harris explained this was merely a precautionary measure and that the twins, Mrs. Crosby and even Bing himself were "doing splendidly."

The Crosbys have another child, a 13-months-old boy.

NO RANSOM DEMANDS

Police Captain Convinced Boy Was Kidnaped and Fears It Was The Work of a Degenerate.

Hartdale, N. Y., July 13 (P).—Friday the 13th, brought despair to Hartdale Manor. Bobby Connor had been missing 15 hours at noon, and fruitless tramping through Secor Woods by 1,000 searchers led to the fear that he was in the hands of a kidnaper.

No ransom demands had been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Connor, 23 Holmes avenue, or at the home of his wealthy grandfather, Charles P. Connor, Arlington, Mass., and police spurred a hunt for an eccentric drug peddler, chased from the neighborhood late yesterday.

Possibility that the 21-months-old child, about the age of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., when he was kidnaped and killed two years ago, had toddled away and become lost faded this morning. Daylight searching parties returned as weary, torn by brambles and empty-handed as had hundreds of police, firemen and neighbors who beat the woods all night with flashlights, fire engine searchlights and lanterns. A call was sent for 200 more Boy Scouts and they joined in the search under Scoutmaster Keyney O'Connor, of Scarsdale.

Dozens of houses had covered miles of ground; a trained police dog had traced an elliptical route a few yards long back to the starting point. The dog was given the scent and ended the trail a few minutes later at a street corner a block from the O'Connor home where Ruth Schwagerman, 3, a neighbor's child, said she left Bobby after a walk at 5:30 last night.

Had Not Had His Supper

The boy had not had his supper and Mrs. O'Connor was fearful when she thought that if he was lost in the woods he would be hungry and frightened.

Captain Philip J. McQuillan was in charge of the search. He took a few hours' sleep at 4 a. m. and returned to lead new systematic efforts to cover the countryside on foot at 10 a. m. The police officer voiced what the parents and neighbors feared to say.

"All the searching has brought us nothing," said Captain McQuillan. "I am convinced the boy has been kidnaped and I am afraid it was the work of a degenerate. No professionals would have considered high ransom."

In Modest Circumstances

The Connors are in modest circumstances and the white frame house in which they live is like others in the middle-class real estate development off Secor road, between Central avenue and Dobbs Ferry road.

Connor, 36, is employed by the State Insurance Department as a title investigator in the Title Guaranty and Trust Company, 167 Broadway, New York. His father is a retired clothing merchant of Boston. Mrs. Connor is the former Lola Murphy, daughter of the late Richard H. Murphy, wealthy lumberman and police commissioner of Bridgeport, Conn.

They have four other children beside Robert, Claire, Richard, 7, and Joan, 4, who are with their maternal grandmother near Bridgeport. Jewel is seven months old. Mrs. Connor exhibited great fortitude during the long night vigil. She rested for a few hours this morning but as the day wore on with no news whatever of Bobby she showed more strain.

SERIOUS SHORTAGE OF FOOD

MAX FACE ADMIRAL BYRD

San Pedro, Calif., July 13 (P).—A serious shortage of food is likely to face Admiral Richard E. Byrd's exploration party in Little America before his ships call there to bring him home in late December.

William F. Verleger, master of Byrd's supply ship, Jacob Ruppert, said today on his arrival from New Zealand.

A large quantity of supplies landed from the Jacob Ruppert last February was lost in several feet of snow, and the veteran skipper is fearful there will not be sufficient food left for the Byrd party to carry on until the supply ships again visit Little America in mid-winter.

The master also expressed concern for the personal safety of Admiral Byrd, now isolated in an advanced weather base 150 miles from the main base in Antarctica.

CARDINAL HAYES WILL ASK ACTION AGAINST MOVIES

New York, July 13 (P).—New York's multitude of Catholics will be asked by Patrick Cardinal Hayes on Sunday to join the nationwide movement against "depraved" motion pictures.

Comparing theaters which exhibit such pictures to a "pest house," the prelate has drafted a letter to be read in every church of the archdiocese in condemnation of the "ever growing degradation and perversion of the screen."

CONTRACTORS PREPARE BOULEVARD FOR CITY'S MEN TO WORK MONDAY

The progress of Kingston men's progress in completing the Boulevard has evidently had its effect for today Harp and Conway contractors for the roadway, announced that the work will begin Monday.

Mayor Conrad J. Hasbrouck announced that all the city's compressors and competent foremen would be on location the first thing Monday to begin making a five-foot cut through the rock for a distance of 549 feet to relay the sewer, an action made necessary when the original plans were changed and the cut deepened. The men will be worked in eight-hour shifts, six days a week, and every attempt will be made to complete the work as rapidly as possible.

The mayor stated that this work would in no way hamper the activities of Harp and Conway in grading and filling other parts of the road, and that rapid progress was expected in preparing the road for the laying of concrete.

Seven Nazi Suspects Face Gallows Death As Victim Succumbs

Salzburg Inspector of Police Is Arrested As Austrian Nazi and a Woman Employee of Security Bureau Is Held.

Vienna, July 13 (P).—The death of a woman victim of a bombing for which seven Nazi suspects are in jail placed the seven in the shadow of the gallows today—if the bombing can be fastened on them.

No Nazi has yet been hung under the emergency laws for anti-government bombing offenses which have plagued Austria for months.

Frau Hermine Graubner, from Graz, one of four members of a travel party injured in a bomb explosion at Salzburg yesterday, died last night.

Meanwhile the strenuous campaign of Major Emil Fey against Austrian Nazis, seeking to oust them from positions in the state police, produced a concrete result with the arrest of Edouard Fischer, Salzburg inspector of police.

A woman employee of the director of public security in Salzburg province also was arrested in connection with the Salzburg bombing which blew up police headquarters there.

The woman was charged with actually participating in the bombing while Fischer was accused of shielding one of the bombers. Both also were accused of espionage.

The only new terrorism reported up to early afternoon was an explosion resulting from a hand grenade being thrown into the house of a district leader of the Fascist Heimwehr in Fofelsberg, Carinthia. He was critically injured and his home was wrecked, but members of his family escaped.

Former Vice Chancellor Fey's attention was also focused on a new edition of the Vienna telephone book which appeared a few days ago. The book still listed Nazi headquarters in Vienna as "Adolf Hitler House."

Four high ranking police executives in Vienna have been questioned concerning Nazi propaganda, but none has yet been jailed.

Provisioners Ready To Serve Big Crowd

U. P. A. Merchants Believe More Than a Thousand Will Appear For Free Picnic and Athletic Contests.

The free picnic and athletic contests, sponsored by the Ulster County Provision Dealers' Association, which will be held at Hasbrouck Park on Tuesday, July 24, has met with such a large response in advance registrations that the provision dealers today announced the intention of making the thing an annual affair with cups and worthwhile prizes in the future for those who compete in the athletic events, in the hope of promoting sportsmanship among the young men and women of Kingston.

Benjamin Suskind, representing the U. P. A., said today that registration blanks had been left at all of the stores of the association so that all who intend to take advantage of this picnic and day of fun could so signify their intentions and thus make it possible for the merchants to ascertain how much food, ice cream and other goodies would be necessary to adequately take care of the crowds.

In several cases, Mr. Suskind said, the supply of registration tickets has already run out and there have been forced to grant additional supplies.

Stores of the association will close about 1 o'clock on the day of the festivities and provisions, their wives and their employees will be on hand at the park to see that everything runs smoothly and according to schedule. The athletic program, which is under the direction of N. H. Fuller of the Y. M. C. A., is rapidly rounding into shape, and events of interest to young and old of both sexes have been planned.

Increasing Number of Labor Unions Join the Movement to Quit Work

Nearly 100,000 Workers Have Pledged Themselves To Walk Out if the Strategy Committee Say the Word.

FEAR SHORTAGE

Shortages of Food, Gasoline and Fuel Became an Actual Threat With Halting of Trucks.

San Francisco, July 13 (P).—Housewives and men in the street felt the Pacific coast's maritime strike today as an increasing number of labor unions joined the movement toward a general strike in the San Francisco bay area.

Shortages of food, gasoline and fuel became an actual threat. With a move toward a general strike gaining headway in Portland, Ore., and rumblings of a similar movement heard in Los Angeles, the San Francisco strategy committee called a meeting of all unions this afternoon at which a general strike is expected to be demanded.

Nearly 100,000 workers in San Francisco and the transbay cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda have pledged themselves to walk out in sympathy with 25,000 striking maritime workers if the strategy committee say the word.

Twenty-five hundred taxicab drivers and chauffeurs walked out here at 5 o'clock this morning bringing to 6,370 the number who have already joined in a protest for immediate settlement of the waterfront strike. Nearly 5,000 more—butchers, laundrymen and retail deliverymen will join them Saturday night.

The present situation, in which Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health officer, said "the very health of the city is in danger," gave residents an inkling of what a general strike would be like.

Garden Trucks Halted

With garden trucks being halted outside the city, wholesale merchants said San Francisco's fresh fruit and vegetable supply would be exhausted by Saturday night. Sufficient meat is on hand to last five days but wholesale butchers already have walked out and retail meat cutters will hang up their cleavers Saturday night.

Grocery stores had supplies on their shelves sufficient to last from three days to a month, but with increased demand from temerous housewives and the truck drivers strike cutting off replenishments, some were already limiting sales.

Oil companies organized an emergency committee as the gasoline shortage threatened to become a paralyzing of all automobile traffic. Chief of Police William J. Quinn began a reorganization of his entire force to cope with the changed situation.

Street car men and 20,000 members of the building trades council were among unionists who polined the beach and call of the strategy committee today.

Walkout Is Imminent.

A city-wide walkout is imminent. It was indicated by Edward Vandeleur, president of the Central Labor Council and chairman of the "strategy" committee

Albany Youth Dies In Lethal Gas Chamber

George J. Shaughnessy, 19, was executed in the Lethal Gas Chamber today.

State Prison, Florence, Ariz. July 12 (AP)—George J. Shaughnessy, 19-year-old killer from Albany, N. Y. was executed at 4:55 a. m. today in the lethal gas chamber of the state prison.

Shaughnessy, convicted of the killing a year ago of Lon Blackenship in a holdup, met death calmly. He walked without aid to the chair, where he was strapped sitting down, and waited without a show of emotion for the fatal fumes, which were released at 4:54 a. m. Three minutes later he was pronounced dead.

A moment before he entered the chamber, walking with the prison chaplain, he stopped and faced Marion A. G. Baker, 19, was executed in the Lethal Gas Chamber today.

After spending the early part of the night in prayer, Shaughnessy calmly waited for the fatal fumes. He sang songs to the tune of an accordion played by Louis Douglas, the only other inmate of the gas chamber. Douglas is under sentence to die at 8 a. m. for the killing of a police officer.

Dies In Chair For Slaying of His Wife

Oshtemo, N. Y., July 13 (AP)—Shirley, 29, was executed today in the electric chair for the slaying of his wife. He went to his death in the electric chair last night, paying for the torch slaying of his wife.

For a year Canora had waited, friendless, in the death house. No one ever came to see him except the prison chaplain.

Canora was convicted June 29, 1933, in Rockland county, after he admitted during his estranged wife, Lena, from her home in Lodi, N. J., stabbing her to death at Spook Rock, near Spring Valley, N. Y., and then pouring gasoline and kerosene on her body and striking a match to it. A mumbled prayer came from his lips as he walked into the execution chamber, into which he had seen 21 others go during his stay in the death house. Four minutes after entering the chamber he was pronounced dead.

G. O. P. Raps Farley And Senator Lewis

Washington, July 13 (AP)—The G. O. P. said today that while "some of our better known comedians" are on vacation, Democratic spokesmen are providing the people with "entertainment."

A statement from the Republican senatorial-congressional committee, which is preparing for the fall campaign, hit Postmaster General Farley, Senator Lewis of Illinois and others. It said Farley, "Doubting in brass, skips blithely from his role as head of the post office service to that of chairman of the Democratic national committee and professes to scoff at his opposition."

Because Farley, the committee continued, "would have the country believe that the Republicans are denuded of political issues," these were pointed out for his "enlightenment." "The extravagances of the Roosevelt regime, the greatest and most expensive bureaucracy the world has ever seen, the disregard by new dealers of the constitution, the regimentation along dictatorship lines, of the business man, the farmer and the ordinary citizen—just to mention a few."

Scientist Declares Einstein Theory Out

Paris, July 13 (AP)—The Einstein theory, declares Professor Emmanuel Carvallo, is out.

Prof. Carvallo, who is more or less to France what Einstein is to the world, offers learned arguments to clinch his claim that Dr. Einstein's famous theory of relativity is now a back number.

The gist of his thesis, advanced in the revue Scientifique, is:
1. Einstein based his theory on the principle of the invariance of the speed of light, put forward by Prof. Albert A. Michelson. American authority on such subjects.
2. Two hundred thousand experiments, Prof. Carvallo claims, have shown the Michelson principle, in so many words, to be all wet.
3. It follows then, says the scientist, that the Einstein theory collapses without the support of Michelson's findings.

NRA Prohibits Using Cigarettes as "Bait"

Washington, July 13 (AP)—NRA has prohibited using cigarettes as "bait."

An order issued last night fixed minimum prices for the "Big Four" brands at 15 cents a pack or two for a quarter. It takes effect July 16. Big retailers have been selling cigarettes as "loss leaders" to attract customers into their stores, the order said. This was described as a blow to small merchants.

HUMBLE ALPACA IS NOW STYLE LEADER

Used in Hats, Frocks, Bags and Even Shoes.

Alpaca, that humble fabric once regarded as office coats for bookkeepers and Sunday best dresses for street urchins, is another Cinderella of fashion suddenly lifted out of the gutter to take its place as the darling of the stylists.

Suits, frocks, coats, handbags and even shoes are being fashioned of this time-honored fabric this season, and the well-dressed debutantes are eating them up.

Checked alpaca makes one of the year's doggiest sports frocks cut in a simple sailorwaist fashion, with a wide collar and wind-up tie, and worn with a finger-length double-breasted reefer of the same material in solid color. Navy and white is a favorite color combination, running neck and neck with brown and white.

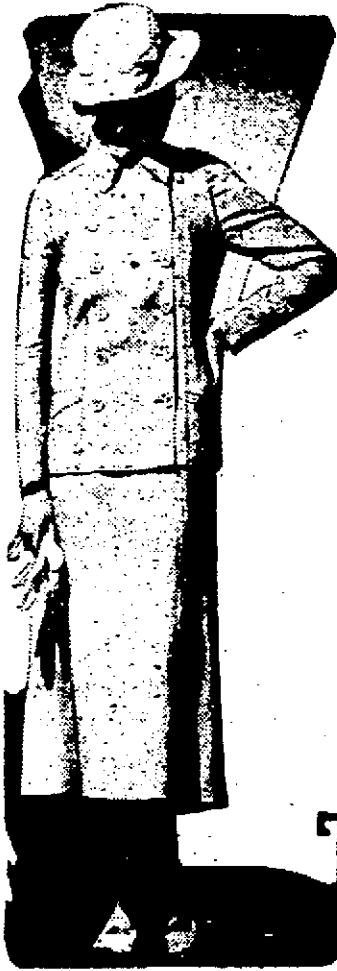

The alpaca Breton sailor, in navy, brown or black, makes a striking boater when trimmed with band and piping of patent leather.

The solid color alpaca sailor suit, in navy blue, with white linen collar and the usual nautical emblems, is a knockout when it consists of double-breasted jacket, slim skirt and white sailor blouse.

Alpaca is substituted for tweed or gabardine in some of the new fabric walking shoes, with reptile or patent leather trim, and the handbags, as always, match.

SUITS OF LINEN

By CHERRY NICHOLAS

A tailored suit of the new soft uncrushable linen is certainly to be coveted. The linen which fashions the jacket and skirt two-piece pictured is the non-crushable sort. It launders to perfection, tailors faultlessly, wears like iron, comes in intriguing colors as well as its own natural tone, flaunts an air of ultra chic—what more could one ask for in the way of a material for a summer town and travel suit? The reefer jacket which styles this tailleur is classically simple. The slim straight lines are broken only by two patch pockets. An interesting treatment of the sleeves gives them a good set as they are cut in one with the shoulders. The advent of uncrushable linen has completely done away with the fear of wrinkling your dress or suit for it just doesn't wrinkle, which makes it ideal.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Alpaca is a smart fabric. Flower jewelry is the latest. Rustling taffeta petticoats are worn.

Milliners exploit very sheer wide brims.

Chic Parisiennes wear very thin mesh stockings in black.

Accent for evening is on fantastic capes made of feathers or tulle.

Suede belts with most unusual decorative fastenings are featured.

Schiaparelli sounds Spanish note in la Goya paintings in her latest creations.

Printed Guimpe Dresses

Are Popular for Summer

Mainbocher makes a hit with his printed guimpe frocks. Lanvin with her button apron dresses. Augustabernard with her knee-length tunic and gathered back skirt frocks. Lelong with his accordion plaited front panel skirted frocks with frilled necklines, and Molyneux with his simple Japanese sleeved dresses that have plaid taffeta or white organdie sashes, gloves, and neck flappings. This house also puts chiffon sashes on wool frocks. Printed silk and cotton day frocks are everywhere and most of the flower prints are on dark grounds. Silk with checkered plaid, and cross-bar patterns are used everywhere for frocks, as are cottons and organdies to these patterns.

Large One-Cost Frocks

The last large 1-cost pieces were made in 1897, and in that year the first small ones were made. The large 1-cost pieces were generally 1 1/2 inches in diameter, but in some years they were 1 1/2, 2 3/4 and 3 1/2.

Strong Opposition to The Fearon Bill Both Upstate and in N.Y. City

Based On Contention That By Combining Proposals Affecting County Governments of Metropolitan And Rural Areas, Program Would Be Endangered.

Albany, N. Y., July 13 (AP)—Strong opposition to the Fearon Bill on county government reorganization became evident today both upstate and in New York City.

Most of the opposition was based on the contention that by combining the proposals affecting the county governments of the Metropolitan area and those of the rural sections the approval of the entire program would be endangered.

Although the New York city charter revision commission, headed by former Governor Alfred E. Smith, has not revealed its attitude toward the Fearon measure, it was believed in most quarters that the commission would insist upon separate legislation for the five counties in greater New York.

Mr. Smith is expected to state his position at a public hearing here next Monday when the judiciary committees of the Senate and Assembly will hear arguments on the Fearon bill and the Dunnigan bill. The latter was drafted by the charter revision commission and affects only New York city.

It was learned today that numerous upstate leaders have expressed their opposition to the Fearon proposal. They almost invariably argued that such a proposal had little chance of approval by the voters even if passed by the legislature.

Some observers pointed out that former Governor Smith a number of years ago expressed vigorous opposition to submitting an entire new constitution to the voters at one time. He favored the submission of the constitution in sections so that the whole measure would not be rejected because of opposition to certain sections.

The Democratic leaders still had not offered legislation either for congressional or legislative reapportionment.

McNaboe Confident

Senator John J. McNaboe, independent Democrat and foe of Democratic Leader John J. Dunnigan, was confident that his measure would be approved. He said he had the assurance of enough Democratic votes to combine with the Republican minority and force the measure through over Dunnigan's opposition.

It was McNaboe's reapportionment bill that led to his open break with the Democratic leader at the last regular session. The measure is identical with the Republican resolution which was passed in 1931.

and was later declared unconstitutional on the grounds that such legislation must be in the form of a bill and not a resolution.

Senator Frank B. Hendel and Assemblyman Maurice A. Fitzgerald, Queens Democrats, have introduced bills for word the same as the McNaboe measure. It is understood that they will support McNaboe as long as he presses for passage of his bill. In some quarters it was reported that they were afraid he might suddenly become reconciled with the party leaders as he did at the regular session. At that time he decided not to press for action.

The governor was expected to send another message to the legislature today laying before it another of the six major problems which he outlined before calling the extraordinary session. Four of the problems already have been given to the legislators.

It was not definitely known whether the governor's message today would deal with the proposal for an additional appropriation for state aid to schools or with the question of relief for guaranteed mortgage certificate holders.

ARCTIC BOYS FIND MARVELS IN BATHTUBS, COWS IN AUTOS

Edmonton, Alta., July 13 (AP)—Radio and airplanes took a back seat today because Master Arthur Wellington Watson, 7, and his brother, Gordon Field Watson, 5, were seeing other wonders of the world for the first time.

Street cars, automobiles which "took cows out riding," telephones, signboards, "big bathtubs" and a hundred other things which go unnoticed by millions of other boys and girls were marvels to the Arctic lads.

The brothers were flown here, 2,000 miles from their home at Coppermine on the Arctic rim, where their father is a trader. They will attend school in Winnipeg.

Electric lights were not new to Arthur and Gordon, for they had seen them "on boats and at the wireless station," but it was the first time they had been allowed to snap them on and off at will. They took full advantage of the opportunity.

A truck loaded with cattle rolled by. "Even the cows ride in automobiles," gasped Arthur.

THIRTEEN

DEAR BOYS AND GIRLS

I want to warn you not to be like Francis. He was given away his things and leaves himself empty. He is followed about by greedy children who get the candy, whereas the marbles out of his pocket get his money away from him. He never has a ride on his own wheel nor has he a chance to be leader although the ball and ball and glove are his. He has a foolish smile on his face as he stands on the fringe of the group standing on the porch. That's what this empty is in the end. He knows other children to be his friends. And are they?

Children are realists down to the pit of their greedy stomachs.
 They eat the candy that is given them, use the toys and tools and what not that are placed at their disposal and forget all about the child who lavished such generosity upon them. If they think of him at all they laugh at him. When his pockets are empty and the game is over he walks home by himself.

Stripping yourself of your belongings is not generosity. It is foolishness. The children are right. You are a silly to do it. In the first place what right have you to give away what your father and mother and friends gave you? What right have you to go home and ask for another lot? But you do. You whine for another ball, for another dime, for more marbles in spite of the fact that you had your allowance. If your family treated you as you treat them they would give away the money that bought you these things and leave you stranded.

The intelligent thing to do is to share what you have with other children. Play with them, take part in the game. Hold your own.
 Don't pay tribute to the strong but be among the strong yourself.
 I know this is very hard for you to do but begin by leaving your things at home until the crowd that you have taught to expect largess from you begin to understand that the party is over and Santa Claus has gone home for the year. Once you get that idea over to them they will respect you instead of laughing at you behind your back. They will begin to bring out a ball and use it in playing the game. When you stop playing take the ball along with you. You see unless you assert your rights in this matter you will soon have none to assert. And you will have nothing else, either. You'll be as empty as the last year's bird nest you hear so much about.

Don't say, "But I don't want to be a piker." That is part of your trouble. You have so little sense that you can see no in-between way. You give all or none. Again I must tell you that is unintelligent. Sharing, giving your half of the thing, doing your share of the job, is what you have to learn to do. Steer a course between selfishness and stinginess and you will succeed. The middle of the road is the safest place for a beginner. Someday when you have arrived at the stage of power where you can safely trust yourself to fate, where you can sniff adventure without courting catastrophe, you can go far to the right or the left. But not now.
 You are a beginner and must learn the rules before you take liberties with them. Just now study to keep within your income of money, time, energy and power. If you don't, if you spend more than you should in any field, you will pile up a debt that you will one day have to pay for in tears and tribulation.

Yours, A. P.

N-E-W-S BEHIND THE N-E-W-S

By PAUL MALLON

Scandal

Washington, July 12.—A certain senator is in a lot of trouble. He made the mistake of promoting a dam site and then buying lots around it.

The senator figured that he would sell all his holdings at a profit, but the PWA has found out about it.

It has records to show that the senator used dummy names in buying up the surrounding ground and it is at a loss about what to do about it.

Apparently the senator and his ex-secretary went in on the deal alone.
 They bought up land in their far western state adjoining the site of the dam, knowing full well the value of the property would appreciate.

According to present calculations the Senator and his secretary made about 50 per cent on their investment.

Interest

It is difficult to judge the success of the senator's business venture in dollars. He took advantage of the fact that farmers in his state knew little of the expected valuation of their property and he and his secretary bought options for songs.

Today he holds more than anyone else of land to be benefited by the project. This was discovered by the various snoots Mr. Ickes has put on the job. He has all the facts but he is in an embarrassing position.

The Senator is a good Democrat and a New Dealer.

If Mr. Ickes were sure of his ground, he would have the senator indicted and tried. But he is not sure. He knows that no other aspersion has been cast upon the senator's record. He knows the senator stands well with Postmaster General Farley and all the other New Dealers.

His associates have an idea that the case will be brought to public attention if and when a land owner of the Pacific states sues for redress.
 They are sure one will. Before that is done, there is nothing Mr. Ickes can do except to shoulder upon himself the responsibility of proving a case of gentle grafting against a politician who shares his economic views.

Look-up

Government followers of business indices are hepped up about the reports from Detroit that orders for dies for use in next year's automobile production are the highest since 1928-29.

Coming after the fairly good automobile sales season, this news is interpreted as indicating confidence, which would be a more important factor if it were more widespread in the heavy industries.

War

If you have to bet on the European war, please bet that some will be forthcoming during the next six months. That prediction has its uncertainties. But the psychological feeling among the masses of both Germany and France is passive.

 They won't fight unless they have to. Germany will avoid a war if it is possible to do so.

The best judgment here is that Hitler will be overthrown in a mild sort of a revolution and that the iron men of the Ruhr will speak their piece in one language or another.

That means Hitler is doomed, and a substitute will take his place.

Notes

Those who want relief loans from the government have succeeded in congressional circles. They have overlooked one thing. The government bureau affected will announce at the first opportunity those Senators who seek relief from them.

A New Dealer, arguing with his comrades a few days ago, predicted that the living expenses of the New Deal would reach to eight billion dollars within twelve months. If it does, Treasury Secretary Morgenthau will need a quick brush for his addition.

Jerry wondered if the message being flashed over the water during the afternoon, the way he perceived the lake with his glasses, and his preoccupation at dinner, had anything to do with the event.

That was it! Certainly! He had been in touch with the schooners

Example of genuine leadership.
 Jerry lay awake a long while listening intently, but heard no sounds other than the ripple of the waves and the throbbing of the propellers. And at last she dropped asleep.

Next morning at breakfast, Joe made no mention of the disturbance during the night and although Jerry's curiosity was running at fever heat, she realized it would be unwise for her to mention it.

Joe, however, seemed willing to let her wait forever. He was historical, doing with this sort of thing. It was unthinkable. Jerry found herself denying Jerry's knowledge anything about the unknown. He said he had changed his plans about going to Lexington to pick up a boy. He had been in some passenger dragged aboard or any of the rest of the shady business.

Joe was distinctly above that.
 She had been mistaken about hearing his voice. She was sure now it had been one of the other men. Joe was no doubt asleep in his own cabin and some one about the yacht had taken advantage of the moment to use the boat for his own ends.

Far away in the moonlight, although Jerry realized it was perhaps no more than 200 yards, lay a long schooner of dull gray on which a green and red light were visible.
 Behind this schooner, and even more deeply veiled by the night, were perhaps five other boats of like build drawn up in rough formation.

There were other lights moving on the schooner and occasional signals with quick flashes.

*****

Joe wondered what possible business Joe could have with these boats which were standing by. She was even more deeply concerned about the frightened figure she had seen dragged aboard the yacht.

A moment later she heard soft staccato orders issued by a voice which seemed to be Joe's, somewhere down the deck. A dozen men, moving stealthily, slipped over the rail of the yacht and into the powerboat which now raced away for the nearest schooner, as silence once more descended on the yacht.

There was a flashed signal from the schooner as the powerboat reached its side. Then the vibration of the Sea Gull's propellers began again, and within a few minutes the schooner had dropped astern, lost in the hazy moonlight, and the yacht was once more surging forward through the waves.

Jerry had been standing beside the open porthole until she was chilled through, but not until now had she noticed it. The mysterious drama being enacted before her had taken her whole attention.

But now, crawling back into bed, she added another cover to keep out chill.

She continued to shudder, however, remembering the white, agonized face of the man brought aboard. Where had she seen that face? Never in real life, she

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Some people crackle his whip, a back that plays for the soul of white and red. He is a man, and little Eva, who is a girl, is playing a scene. The scene is in New York. The players are real trouperes though they will not travel in a private car, or maybe two private cars, as Tom shows—so the old Clapper called them—used to be in my boyhood. They ride in the subway. The theaters are different from those of other times. They are trailers, which are towed here and there by motor trucks. Each trailer is a complete theater. On reaching the desired spot in one of the public parks, a dressing tent will be erected, the trailer unfolded and a plug inserted in a convenient electric outlet. That's all the preparation necessary. Since there are to be no parades, the trouperes won't have to double in brass. But business is assured—all tickets are free.

There are five of the trailer-theaters, each complete in itself. Thirty feet long, they are 8 feet wide and 13 feet high—the dimensions being governed by the city ordinance covering that kind of vehicles. When unfolded, there is a stage 30 by 20 feet with footlights, back-drops, borders, scenery, properties and everything else necessary. A switchboard in front controls the lighting. The stage crew consists of an electrician, a property man, a fly man and a carpenter. The idea of a municipal moving theater came from the brain of George Junkin, head of the drama department of the city public works division. Cleon Throckmorton designed the trailers, donated the idea to the city and supervised the building in his Greenwich Village workshop. The actors have been selected from among the many unemployed Thespians. Their salaries come from welfare funds. So do those of the stage crews, and the other costs. Twelve performances a week is the schedule for each theater.

Looking back, I discover I have overlooked the dressing tent. To protect the theater from the elements, each trailer is covered with a canvas. When that canvas is taken off, it is set up as a dressing tent. The Tom shows won't compete with theaters and movie since tickets will be distributed by welfare agencies among families who have no money for amusements.

By no means is "Uncle Tom's Cabin" the only throwback to the gas-light era. For quite some time, "The Drunkard" first presented here many years ago by P. T. Barnum, has been flourishing in an old church on East Fifty-fifth street, the patrons drinking beer while witnessing the performances. Then, too, Mr. Throckmorton is directing a restoration of the Peoples theater down on the Bowery for a revival of "The Black Crook." There will be bars and tables so that patrons may have their beer along with art, and Nita Naldi, star of the old silent screen, will appear in black tights and Ann Pennington will show her knees. In addition, there is revival of the old Bowery amateur night at the Casino de Paris. "You furnish the vegetables and we furnish the actors," say the ads. That has stirred up the Actors' Protective association so there may be a change.

Will have to go down and see "The Black Crook." The night it played in our town, I wasn't in my regular seat at Dickson's Grand opera house—there was a home order that I dare not disobey. "The Black Crook" was a leg show and leg shows weren't for young male eyes. A friend—he looked older than his years—smoked into the gallery and rendered a lurid report. So, after all these years, I have an opportunity to check up on him.

Turtle is one of the Broadway delicacies that has no season. Restaurant owners buy them, ranging from 20 to 200 pounds, and some use four or five of the larger ones each week. The cost ranges from 20 to 40 cents a pound. There is said to be only one source of supply for diamond-back terrapin, and that's away downtown, with prices running into real money.

Oxen in Back of Mules, His Team Works Fast

Ordiz, Ohio.—An acute shortage of farm horses doesn't bother Joe Walker, Green township farmer, for he finds a combination of oxen and mules better suited to his needs—despite the odd combination.

"And it's a fast pace, too," Walker says, "for the mules don't like to have their hindquarters prodded with a pair of horns. Team work gets things done always."

First Steamer Across Atlantic

DISCOVER FOSSILS IN ASPHALT BEDS

Furnish Valuable Clues to Past Geological Ages

Washington.—The asphalt beds of California have been found to be "valuable megapools" of animal fossils and give many discernible facts about plants, animals, and men of past geologic ages, according to reports of a study made for Carnegie Institution by Robert W. Wilson.

These deposits, now for the most part of bituminous hardness, once were gummy pools of tar which, the report states, engulfed sawary birds and animals quickly once they became entangled and preserved their skeletal remains for all time.

The Carpentaria deposit, around which the recent study centered, has yielded enough material to enable the drawing of definite conclusions concerning conditions extant in the region during the geologic ages represented by the animals entombed.

The occurrence of bones of abourea, for example, according to Wilson, suggests moist places with abundant vegetation, such as are to be found along bank streams, in meadows, and in damp woods, especially of coniferous trees—an environment which these insectivorous mammals today find particularly agreeable.

Again the presence of fossil remains of chipmunks and of tree squirrels points strongly, Wilson thinks, to a region that was at least partly forested. On the other hand, the presence of many fossils of kangaroo-rats indicates that the forest cover in the region of this asphalt deposit was either broken by areas of sparser vegetation or that there may have been fluctuations in climatic conditions during the period of accumulation.

Moreover, presence of larger mammals of extinct species belonging to the horse, bison, and camels also suggests an open, semi-arid country.

It is to be noted, the report further states, that Mr. Wilson's conclusions regarding the region, based upon the study of skeletal remains of animals, are in general harmony with those reached through study of the plant fossils also to be found in great abundance in the asphalt deposit.

French Town's Citizens

All on Treasure Hunt

La Roche Sur Yon, La Vendee, France.—Ever since a peasant dug up 4,000 copper coins in his barnyard last February, this quaint province has become a miniature French Klondike.

Treasure hunting is the principal pastime of La Vendee. Farmers and school teachers, milkmaids and telephone operators all have taken to digging around the town, hoping to be as lucky as the February finder of the 4,000 copper coins which he transformed into $400.

The coins were worth very little as copper and less as currency, but they were 800 years old and carried the portrait of Louis XIII, and therefore they had a definite value to coin collectors.

The coins minted at Tours are called "toursnois" and "demi-toursnois," and at that time each "toursnois" was one-twentieth of the French "livre," or pound, the unit of currency under the monarchy.

Last July a shepherdess discovered 15 coins dating to Louis XV; a year ago a chicken pecking in the soil uncovered 5,000 coins dating back several centuries. Such finds, it is reported, go back to 80 years ago, when 6,000 coins of gold, silver, and copper, now in the Nantes museum, were dug up near that city.

Ancient Weapons of War

Retired Farmer's Hobby

Beaver Dam, Wis.—Weapons of war ranging from Indian arrow heads to German machine guns have been collected over a period of many years by August Smith, Beaver Dam, a retired farmer and former member of the Wisconsin National guard.

He has more than 3,000 arrow heads in his collection in addition to 300 stone hammers and axes and about 300 guns. His collection includes the rifle with which Sitting Bull is supposed to have been killed.

Man Sentenced to Bed
Hamilton, Ont.—Albert Irwin, twenty-three years of age, has been sentenced to go to bed at ten o'clock every night for three months for sleeping on a policeman's face.

Marathon Reader

Arrives at "Logic"

Paris.—A bizarre instance of patience and persistence is reported by the American Library of Paris which was established in 1917 for the A. B. F., but now functions for the English-language colonies of a nameless American who evidently has taken a solemn vow to read through the Encyclopedia Britannica, letter by letter. When last noted, he had arrived at "Logic."

When he started nobody can tell but three years ago one of the librarians noticed that he had arrived at "Egypt." Since then, with his knowing it, his progress is being checked by the librarians every week.

When he reaches "Zulu" the librarians hope he will start another long-distance reading contest. For his marathon across the Britannica has brought them many extra hours of interesting conversation.

GAS BUGGIES—Did You Ever Know It To Fail?

FRIDAY THE 13TH. If you're cautious today, folks, you'll watch your step, mind your p's and q's, take care not to spill the beans and refuse wooden shoes. For it can be said to reflect a moment in your mirror this morning you'd recall that this is Friday the thirteenth, the day when danger lurks in every corner for the superstitious. In case you are the sort, better be careful not to smash a glass. It means seven years of bad luck. Another tough break is spilling salt on the table. If you'd square yourself with the dark fates, you'll have to toss another portion over your left shoulder. That even things. Walking under a ladder is rough luck enough, but to have a black cat cross your path at the same time—well, that's just too bad.

Anyway, this is the last Friday the thirteenth in 1934.

Geraldine—Imagine—Judith Hoot is going to marry Philip Knight.

Margaret—What? Why? Why the boy she is engaged to?

Ever notice how many people will voice their praise of some speech but how little they can tell of what they actually heard as a reason for their laudation of the address.

Lily—So you've done mortgaged our little home?

Mose—Jes' temp'rarily, honey. 'Til de mortgage am foreclosed.

Which is worse, to eat restaurant hash when you don't know what is in it or to eat homemade hash when you do know what is in it?

Hot weather hints:
Don't swim just after eating.
Don't get too tired or exhausted.
Don't lose your temper or get excited.

Don't drink ice-cold drinks when you are heated.
Don't continue working if you stop perspiring.

Don't work out in the sun unless you are used to it.
Don't get burned by the sun—do your "tanning" gradually.

Don't talk about hot weather; keep a cheerful outlook.
Don't bathe or swim in dirty water or streams that are polluted.

"Do's":
Keep the window's open.
Drink fruit juices and water freely.

Keep skin clean by frequent bathing.
Seek the shade and avoid over-exertion.

Wear light-colored fabrics of loose weave.
Rest in cool places; use electric fans if available.

Draw the shades in the sunny side of the house.
Wear loose clothing; open at the neck and without a coat.

There are a few things we can adjust to our own way of thinking. But, by and large, life consists of adjusting ourselves or else getting put out of the game.

Maybe it doesn't belong in this column, but a sad story comes from Georgia. A bride waited at the church, but the groom did not come; another wedding day was set, but again the bride waited at the church.

Fashions By Barbara Bell

An Ideal Apron-Dress for Summer

For midsummer wear the busy, modern woman has found the ideal in the apron-dress. It is a dress that is both practical and stylish, and it is the perfect solution to the problem of how to wear an apron without looking like a maid.

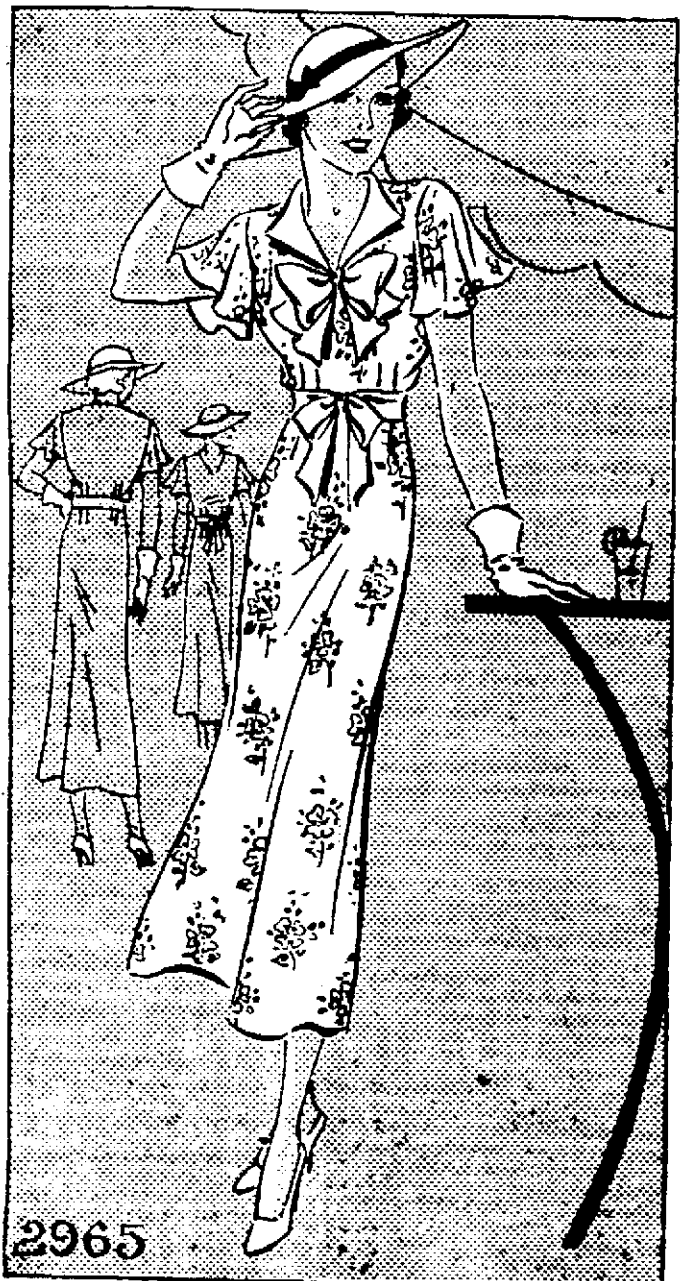

A recent designer of house-fashions drew her inspiration for the newest version of the apron-dress sketched from the rather unimpressive fashions of a decade ago. Taking the major parts of that faded garment and dressed it up beyond recognition. Instead of standardized fabrics, of the perale family, she has used attractive materials, like gingham, dimity, peasant prints and lawns. The time-honored bias-binding she replaced with shapely revers, and the kimono sleeve, that bound the arm uncomfortably, is substituted by a gathered ruffle. This combination of changes transforms a plain garment into a decorative little apron-dress that fits nicely into a midsummer porch scene. The style is especially feminine when developed in soft pinks, pale blues, melon yellow, apricot and cool green. The model comes in a wide range of sizes. It is recommended as wholeheartedly for large grandmotherly types as for the most recent summer brides.

Here's a smart tubbale silk dress—ready for any summer occasion. And it's inexpensive, too!
If you prefer a collarless dress, note in the miniature view how effective it is without the lower collar and bow. Pin inverted tucks make the waistline "fitting."
Chiffon cotton voile prints, cyclel batiste, sheer linen prints, etc., are other very pretty and cool suggestions for this simple to make model.

Style No. 2965 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 1/4 yards of 39-inch material with 1/4 yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Censorship Cost The Movie Industry Five Millions A Year

Hollywood, Calif., July 13 (AP)— Censorship, now the most important question before motion picture producers, costs the industry—and indirectly, the public—an estimated $5,000,000 a year.

The movie industry has to pay to have its films censored officially. Unofficial reviewers for large organizations take a further toll.

The movies pay to the official boards in seven states and 133 municipalities, to the provinces of Canada and to the governments of every other nation, a reviewing toll of from two to ten dollars a reel.
For the unofficial groups, the movies supply the film, the theater and pay the operator. This item is small, but it helps to boost the total cost of censorship to the estimated five million dollars a year.

The unofficial groups, generally, are as inconsistent and as non-con-formative as the official bodies. One group declares a certain picture is harmless for adolescents; another says its climax is too emotional for youngsters.

It is these points Hollywood has used, and will use in combatting the problem of censorship. It doesn't mind the cost of five millions a year, since the public indirectly has to pay that, but it does object to outside interference.

The industry heads even considered federal censorship in order to obtain uniform rulings on what may be shown and said in pictures and what may not. But this thought was almost immediately cast aside, due to the realization it was declared later that such government control might render the great entertainment medium as impotent as is the industry in foreign countries.

So a self-regulation plan was substituted in the hope of ending all censorship and all criticism.
Hollywood's strongest argument at the moment is that official censorship has failed, pointing as proof that in the very states where censors are most severe—New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania—church and other people have created the most agitation for cleaner films.

PETER GETS ANOTHER SURPRISE

"Daddy, dear my cousin, Brownie," Jenny Wren sang, "asked me to sing at the memory."

"He said especially for me. He has a very special song, has Brownie, and when he sings he acts as if he were a good friend of mine and knows what a good friend he is. I noticed that that long ago when he sang straight down, the way he does now."

Peter blinked and stared, for he was a very much surprised rabbit.

same way Mr. Wren's does when he sings."

"Of course it did," retorted Jenny promptly. "That's a family trait. The tails of both my other big cousins do the same thing."

"What—what's that? Have you got more big cousins?" cried Peter, starting up at Jenny Wren as if she were some strange person he had never seen before.

"Certainly," retorted Jenny. "Mocker or the Mockingbird and Kitty the Catbird belong to Thrasher's family, and that makes them second cousins to me."

Such a funny expression as there was on Peter's face! He felt that Jenny Wren was telling the truth, but it was surprising news to him, and so hard to believe that for a few minutes he couldn't find his tongue to ask another question. Finally he ventured to ask very timidly, "Does Brownie imitate the songs of other birds the way Mocker and Kitty do?"

Jenny Wren shook her head very decidedly. "No," said she, "he's perfectly satisfied with his own song."

"He ought to be," declared Peter. "Anyone who can sing as he can should be quite contented."

Before another word could be said, the clear whistle of Glory the Cardinal sounded from a tree just a little way off. Instantly Peter forgot all about Jenny Wren's relatives and scampered over to that tree. You see, Glory is so beautiful that Peter never loses a chance to see him.

As Peter sat staring up into the tree trying to get a glimpse of Glory's red coat, the clear, sweet whistle sounded once more. It drew Peter's eyes to one of the upper branches, but instead of the beautiful brilliant coat of Glory the Cardinal, he saw a bird about the size of Welcome Robin, dressed in ashy gray with two white bars on his wings and white feathers on the outer edges of his tail. He was very trim and neat and his tail hung straight down after the manner of Brownie's when he was singing. It was a long tail, but not as long as Brownie's. Peter blinked and stared, for he was a very much surprised rabbit.

Accidental Shell Shot Kills 2 French Sailors

Toulon, France, July 13 (AP).—A shell, fired by accident from the destroyer Vautour, struck a sister ship, the Albatros today, killing two French sailors and wounding a third.

The shell had been forgotten and left in one of the Vautour's guns. It exploded accidentally during cleaning operations after target practice.

It made a perfect hit, falling upon the forward deck of the Albatros and exploding.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, July 13 (State Dept. of Agr. & Mkts.)—The following quotations represent prices on sales by commission merchants and other original receivers on the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 5 a. m.

Orange county carrots, washed and of good size and attractive quality, jobbed out slowly at 90c-$1.00 per bushel basket. New Jersey cut, washed and unwashed stock brought 50c-$1.00.

Update Big Boston lettuce and romaine receipts were lighter and demand was slightly improved. Crates of two dozen heads jobbed out from 35c-50c for the best.

Fancy tender snap beans continued to meet a prompt outlet in a steady market. The very best bountiful or wax realized $1.25-$1.50 per bushel basket.

The market for celery was again very dull. Supplies from Orange county, and northern New Jersey were moderate. Jobbing transactions on stock in the rough, packed in high ball or pony crates peddled out at 75c-$1.00.

Attractive quality large sized cauliflower met a ready sale at about unchanged prices in a steady market.

Supplies of green peas from this state were moderate. Jobbing transactions on the very finest, large size peas were reported at $1.75-$2.00 per bushel basket.

Prices on fancy, curly spinach were sustained, but tended downward on fair to ordinary. The demand was moderate and $1.00 was the top price obtained for upstate consignments packed in either lettuce crates or bushel baskets.

Terrier Deserts Sea for Life on Land With Cops
Philadelphia.—A white terrier dog has returned from a Mediterranean cruise to become a police station mascot.

"Rags" was presented to an Aquitania passenger as a joke just before the ship sailed, last February. The passenger refused to accept the pup, but Capt. Robert Irving did.

After two cruises in the Mediterranean district "Rags" found his sea legs and paced blithely about the quarterdeck. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Harvey became attached to him, and obtained permission from Captain Irving to present him to a police station here.

His likes and dislikes were violent, however, and Patrolman Thomas Brown took him home to "teach him manners."

"Rags" now politely ignores tempting police shins, and is back in official favor.

"Eat" and "Er"
In the United States, the past tense of the verb to eat is rarely heard other than as pronounced to rhyme with late, gate, mate, says Literary Digest.

In England the past tense appears indiscriminately as ate or eat, and in either spelling it is generally pronounced to rhyme with let, get, met. Occasionally, the form ate is pronounced in England as in the United States, and occasionally the form eat appears in the United States with the pronunciation et.

EVEN CAREFUL ARE ACCIDENT VICTIMS

Unusual Ones Are Reported by Risk Companies.

Hartford, Conn.—Even when you're most careful, accidents can happen. A list of unusual accidents reported by risk companies follows.

Last year's statistics of accidents of unusual character are as follows: A large and unusual number of accidents were reported.

There was the case of a man who, after the usual accident, was found in the cell. The man was found in the cell, and the accident was reported.

A fatherman named a big cat into his cage. The cat was found in the cage, and the accident was reported.

A hunter who shot his gun into the air was shot by a fellow hunter who mistook him for a mouse.

Within the past three or four years accidents while horseback riding have increased. A recent accident reported by a risk company was as follows:

about the same percentage, skating accidents depended upon the mercury; mishaps at picnics increased more than 30 per cent and with return of the bicycle to popularity, the toll jumped nearly 500 per cent.

One of the most unusual was that of a man suffering a broken leg who, in trying to turn over in bed, snapped the other one. The ever-present bar of soap in the bathtub results in a surprising number of bad falls.

There is a record of one accident with half-way pleasant result. A golfer addressing the ball was struck by a bee. The added impetus to the drive gave him a hole in one.

Visual Signal Apparatus to Show Radio Beacons

Washington.—A device for visually interpreting signals of aeronautical radio range beacons has been developed by W. E. Jackson and L. M. Harding, radio engineers of the Commerce department's aeronautics branch, according to Rex Martin, assistant director of aeronautics.

Signals, Martin explained, are received through headphones by airmen who rely upon them for guidance during periods of poor visibility.

The device features an indicator which, fitted in the instrument panel, is similar to the contrivance used for blind landings. It is open-faced and has two needles—one vertical and one horizontal. The vertical needle, Martin explained, is chief indicator, and when a plane leaves the course defined by a radio beacon, this needle will move accordingly. However, he added, if the plane is exactly on course, the vertical pointer will remain in center of the dial.

The horizontal indicator, the official revealed, shows the volume of received signals, which the pilot may adjust as he sees fit.

Sugar Produced by Nicotine
Because sugar is produced by nicotine, scientists assert they have found the reason why smoking seems to appease the appetite of a hungry man.

"Hunger appears from our observations and those of other investigators to arise within a definite time after the blood sugar falls to the fasting level. Tobacco smoking, by inducing hyperglycemia (production of excess sugar in the blood) temporarily relieves these conditions. Smokers prefer tobacco to any other leaf because of the nicotine. Man's fondness for sweets betrays itself again—this time through the blood."

45 Boys Enrolled At Camp Happyland

Former Tuberculosis Hospital Building Has Been Remodeled and Made Into Health Camp.

At the present time 45 undernourished boys from Ulster county are enrolled at Camp Happyland on Clifton avenue where the former Tuberculosis Hospital buildings have been remodeled and made into a health camp for the children of the county. Later in the season after the boys have had a month of health-building pleasure at Camp Happyland from 45 to 50 girls will occupy the camp for a month.

By fall a hundred boys and girls of Ulster county will return home much benefited in health for in past seasons Camp Happyland has been responsible for building up many of these undernourished children. Records of the camp show that by healthful exercise and proper foods these children gain from 2 to 10 pounds in weight while spending a month at the camp under the supervision of the director and counselors.

This work is carried on through the efforts of public spirited citizens of the county and through the funds derived each year by sale of Red Cross stamps. Could the people of Ulster county visit this camp and see the wonderful work which is being carried on the sale of Christmas Seals would undoubtedly double each year.

This year Camp Happyland is located in the former Tuberculosis Hospital building on Clifton avenue, opposite the City Home at Flatbush avenue. The buildings have been thoroughly renovated, re-painted, and all of the old equipment has been burned and the grounds gone over and all traces of the former use of the buildings eliminated. Showers have been installed in the basement and new equipment installed. Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Loughran of this city, playground equipment has been installed for the children and there is a spirit of happiness evident among the children of Camp Happyland, which justifies the name which has been bestowed upon the camp.

Miss Katherine Murphy, county tuberculosis nurse, is the director at the camp and she is assisted by Miss Ray Bloodgood of Boston, a graduate of Sargent School and for ten years in the Boston schools physical department, as Senior Counselor. The assistant counselors are Miss Helen O'Meara and Miss Helen Richards, R. N., of this city. Miss Elizabeth Donovan, a student at Cornell University, is dietitian and Charles Meyer is houseman.

All is not play at the camp and the occupants are taught to do useful things while gaining back health. Much credit is due the committee in charge of the camp and the staff at the camp. One significant thing and one which indicates that the children are well cared for and made to enjoy themselves is the fact that of all the boys who enrolled at the camp, but two have returned home because of homesickness.

At the end of the month in camp the 45 boys will return to their homes greatly benefited by the care which they have received and stronger and better able to continue their studies.

Gold Changed to Silver
St. Louis.—Mrs. Rose Gold always liked the name of Silver, that of her father. When she was granted a divorce from her husband she had her maiden name restored. She said Silver was of more value to her now than Gold.

Black Beauty in Real Life
Methuen, Mass.—Fiction's Black Beauty has a real life counterpart here. It is Vic, now spending her last days at the Methuen Vacation farm. Thirty-six years old, Vic long served her mistress, Mrs. A. L. Pease, proprietor of a Haverhill lunch room, before being retired "on pension."

Bull Dog Ends Life by Opening Gas Jet
Murphysboro, Ill.—Cupid, a pet bull dog of E. L. Chapman, committed suicide by taking gas recently.

The dog, left alone in the Chapman home, apparently turned on the gas jet. When Chapman returned home he found his dog unconscious and the house filled with fumes. He called the fire department and the house was evacuated.

Firemen worked over the animal for an hour in an unsuccessful effort to revive it.

The Smallest Bird
The record for small size in the bird world seems to go to a bird the size of a large bee, found in Haiti.

WITTY KITTY
By NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

The girl child says about this time of the year golf widows begin to show their mourning weeds.

Sackcloth
Sackcloth is linen or cotton cloth such as sacks are made of. The sackcloth of the Bible was probably a coarse, dark cloth of goat's or camel's hair, used for sacks, saddle cloths, etc., and was worn as a sign of mourning, distress, penitence, etc.
